Taking an STS Course at UZH as a Swiss Mobility Student

Are you enrolled at another Swiss university and would like to take a course of the School for Transdisciplinary Studies (STS) at the University of Zurich? This guide walks you through the whole process, from applying for Module Mobility to booking your course.

Key information at a glance

Who can apply? Students enrolled at another Swiss university
Costs? Free of charge, as long as you pay tuition fees at your home university
Application period:

- Fall semester: 1 January – 31 July
- Spring semester: 1 July – 31 January

→ Deadlines cannot be extended.
Where to apply: UZH Application portal
Available courses: STS Courses in the UZH Course Catalogue
UZH Website for Incoming Students: Mobility within Switzerland – Incoming

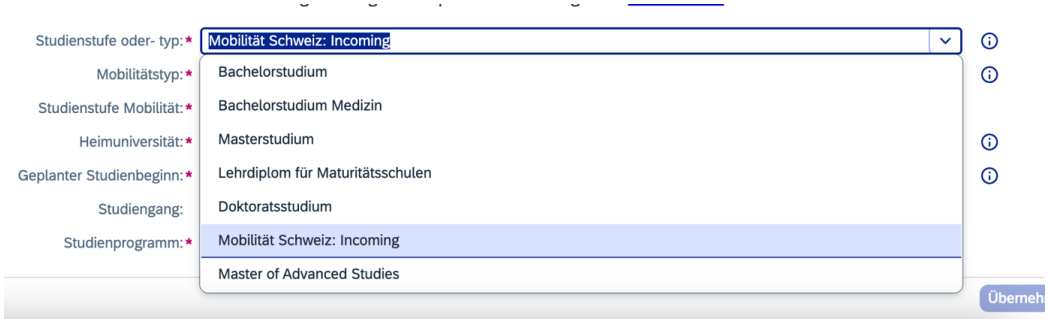

Apply early! The Student Administration Office has to verify your documents before you are enrolled, and this takes time. You can only book STS courses once your enrollment is complete, so submit your application well before the course booking deadline and within the application period.

Process in four steps

- Step 1: Apply for Module Mobility in the UZH Application Portal
- Step 2: Wait for your enrollment to be confirmed
- Step 3: Activate your UZH account
- Step 4: Book your STS course(s)

Step 1: Apply for Module Mobility

1. Create an account: Go to the UZH Online Application Portal and register with a new account.
2. Select the level or type of study: Select "Mobility within Switzerland – Incoming"

3. Choose the mobility type: Select “Module Mobility”
4. Enter your details: Select your level of study, your home university and the semester in which you want to start.
5. Choose a faculty: Select any of the seven faculties. Your choice does not limit which courses you can book later. STS courses are open to you no matter which faculty you select.
   Recommendation: Choose the faculty that is closest to your own faculty at your home university.

6. Choose a study program: Select a study program and, if required, a major and minor. Again, your choice does not affect which STS courses you can book.
   Recommendation: Choose the program that is closest to your degree program at your home university.

Example of a completed selection (in German):

7. Upload your documents and submit: Fill in all required information and upload the requested documents, then submit your application.

Step 2: Wait for your enrollment to be confirmed

The Student Administration Office checks your application and documents. This can take some time.

- You can follow the status of your application online in the Application Portal.
- You will receive an email whenever the status changes.

Step 3: Activate your UZH account

Once you are enrolled, you will receive a password letter with your UZH username and initial password. Use these to log in to Identity Management and activate your UZH account.

Step 4: Book your STS course(s)

As soon as your UZH account is active, you can book STS courses in Student Services.
Module booking works in three steps:

1. Search for STS courses in the Course Catalogue and select it.
2. Book (or request) the course in the «Noted Items & Module Booking» app in Student Services.
3. Review and your bookings and make changes if necessary in the «My Modules» app.

Booking and cancellation deadlines

Please make sure you book and, if needed, cancel your course within the official deadlines:

- Deadlines for the fall semester
- Deadlines for the spring semester

Questions?

Office of the School for Transdisciplinary Studies, sts@le.uzh.ch